★★★★★ Finally, respect at the tavern

Walked into the Swan & Pike wearing this and got a whole bench to myself. The lavender is lovely. The lenses fog when I breathe but my wife says that's just the humours escaping. Would buy again, and did, for my apprentice.

★★☆☆☆ Beak too long for our cottage door

Reviewed in the Kingdom of England on 19 Lammas 1347

Husband keeps catching the beak on the lintel. Also the goat is terrified of him now. Two stars because it does smell nicer than the rest of the village.

★☆☆☆☆ UPDATE: seller unresponsive

Original review 5 stars. Update: I have developed a cough. Update 2: the seller says my "humours were already out of balance" and refuses a return. Update 3: This review is being finished by my nephew. He says the mask was fine but he'd like to sell it. Lightly used. 2s. o.n.o.

Question: Does it come in a smaller beak for children?
Answer: Children should not be doctors. — Guild of Venetian Physicians · Seller
